Representatives Oppose Policy of Three to Five Years for Completing Vessels.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12 .- If Secretary Daniels can offer assurances that Gov-House Naval Committee will include in the navy appropriation bill the $12,000 .-000 item that the Secretary asks for the fitting up of yards to construct battle

But Republican members of the committee, before approving such action. will first determine from the assurances that the Secretary has "seen the light" will not be satisfied with building operations which require from three to five years for the completion of a capital owned munition, armor and shipbuilding plants must not lead him to close the doors upon private ship bids competing Government contracts, and third, by will seek to insure against the ex-aditure of the $12,000,000 for the enlargement of useless navy yards in the etary's own Southland.

Secretary Daniels's present controbattle cruisers is regarded as almost en-tirely a squabble over prices, with the vital consideration of time virtually eliminated. What the real friends of naval defence want is ships—not cheap ships, but immediate ships or as "immeate" as reasonable expedition in view existing conditions warrants.

FIREMEN INTERRUPT A WEDDING CEREMONY

False Alarm Halts Solemn Occasion at 26 Baldwin St., East Orange, N. J.

A wedding was in progress yesterday afternoon at the home of Dr. Frank D Mitchell, 26 Baldwin street, East Orange, N. J. Miss Olida T. Pope, a sis ter of Mrs. Mitchell, and Lee Morris Hatt, both of Macon, Ga., were visiting at the Mitchell home. They had been engaged some time and decided to get married while visiting in the North.

An old fashioned grate fire threw its light gayly about the room as the young couple stood before the minister. He had just reached that solemn part of the ships with reasonable expedition the maiden were making their vows of love and faithfulness. Suddenly there was a din and a clatter down the street. Gongs sounded wildly and there was the pound of horses' feet and the rumble of wheels upon the pavement. A moment later East Orange's fire apparatus engine

Miss Schofield is at present appearing on the stage with a company listed among the theatrical advertisements on another page. Young Men Friends.

DIVORCE SUIT REPLY

An uncle is a good thing for small boys have, but in the opinion of Jacob B. Fragner, manufacturer and a stock holder in the United Cigar Stores Company, there ought to be a limit to the supply. He said in the Supreme Court yesterday that his son Bertram, 10 years old, has them periodically, and that's his answer to his wife's separation suit.

The connection becomes clearer when the information is drawn from Fragner's affidavit that young men were apt to be found at his home by his wife's invitation, and that the observant neighbors often remarked that his son "had a new uncle every summer." These young men after his wife, Gertrude, had an impuls to go to some well known resort, where she made their acquaintance. The friendships, according to his story, were more durable than the ordinary to stay away were very frequent, so her husband avers, and would require eight or ten weeks to run their course. All or ten weeks to run their course. All the time, he swears, he paid the bills without a murmur.

brought suit for separation on the ground of cruelty.

Together with his own denial Fragner submitted affidavits from his friends to prove that he was not unsympathetic except about Plato. One statement reveals that Mrs. Fragner, after pointing out that she was sixteen years younger than her husband, reproached him for being "too domesticated." In another she is quoted as calling her husband.
